6. [redacted] After clearing the letters with Messrs. Colby, Maury, Nelson, Flannery and OGC reviewed with Fred D. Thompson, Minority Counsel for the Senate Select Committee on Presidential Campaign Activities, the substance of our letters to him lifting the secrecy injunction for an executive session interview of [redacted] by Thompson and Senator Howard H. Baker, Jr. (R., Tenn.). Thompson said the letters fully meet his needs, and hoped that the interview with [redacted] would clear up all loose ends and will effect delivery of the letters [redacted] and his attorney.

7. [redacted] Jim Woolsey, General Counsel of the Senate Armed Services Committee, called and said before he leaves the Committee in the next ten days or so, he would like to finish out his work with Senator John C. Stennis (D., Miss.) on the upcoming hearings on the 1947 Act. In this connection he reviewed a number of the names in the suggested witness list we had provided to learn of the individuals expertise or experience in the subject matter and, in response to his request, I promised to provide him further details on a number of the individuals.

8. [redacted] Received a call from Thomas J. Reckford, Staff Assistant on Intelligence, Commission on the Organization of the Government for the Conduct of Foreign Policy, who asked if I would check whether a security clearance has been granted for Lt. Col. John Moellering, a White House fellow, who is working for Ann Armstrong, one of the Commissioners. After checking with the Office of Security, I told Reckford that we have no record of any clearances or contact with Lt. Col. Moellering. I told him also that as a matter of policy we do not clear personal staff members for access to compartmented information. I suggested to him that if it is necessary to deal with Lt. Col. Moellering on classified information that his request for clearances be forwarded to the Department of State for processing by them. Reckford thanked me for the advice.
